The New Life Recovery Program consists of four phases of psycho-educational groups, building discipleship combined with substantial relapse prevention and life skills curriculum. The four phases take place over the course of 13 months of structured residential treatment with an additional transition phase of approximately 5 months in our transitional housing. Each of the five phases is developed to build a relationship with God while repairing brokenness of the past. Our progressive curriculum is designed to offer faith-based recovery for students to internalize in their own lives and move forward to a productive self-sufficient life. Transformation begins at different times due to the student's willingness to change and live a productive self-sufficient sober life.
