Meeting Overview:

The meeting was called to order at approximately 3:00 p.m. Introductions were made.

Some time was spent asking and answering questions:

- Has the County received any AB 109 monies to date? The County also received a prorated monthly award of the FY 2011/12 $2,988,875 monies in the amount of $187,000.
- What are the big issues that the Chief Probation Officers of California taking on? A constitutional amendment regarding future funding and a clean-up bill to tighten-up legislative language.
- Who is responsible for parolees with serious health issues? Shasta County if the parolee is in custody, and if not in custody the parolee could apply for MediCal or County Services Medical Program (CSMP).

Reports were presented from the various groups regarding the impact of AB 109 to date.

Jail: There were six parole technical violations – parolees were released; there were two Morrissey hearings – one parolee is in custody and one parolee is on work release.

Courts (DA PD): No realignment cases to date.

Probation: CDCR projected 36 parolees to be released in October. 32 parolees were released and 31 reported to Probation. One active warrant was issued for parolee that did not report (new process for Probation); 1170(h) new custody local sentencing – anticipated 27 new locally sentenced prisoners but only aware of five.

Supervision: Two Probation Officers assigned since October 1st, and a supervisor was assigned to the unit last week. The officers are meeting with the parolees. They complete a personal history statement, discuss the terms and conditions of their parole, and discuss the parolee's needs. Staff is working with partners from HHSA eligibility. A team approach using multiple agencies makes the process easier; Officers are conducting home visits. Staff is collecting data, establishing protocols, systems, events, referral processes (names of parolees are being forwarded to referral agencies in advance). Staff is developing a list of needs – need drug and alcohol treatment now. Hope to develop an education component and domestic violence relapse prevention program.

Compliance Team: Team members from Redding Police Department, the Sheriff's Office, and Probation are working together to determine what their focus will be. They plan to do compliance checks at the parolee's homes, do searches, check for violations. If they know a parolee has violated their parole, there will be advance discussion as to what the consequences will be. Other sanctions aside from booking are needed to develop a balanced approach. Positive reinforcement is needed when applicable.

There was general discussion regarding the needs of the parolees and the community resources available.

The next CCP meeting is scheduled for 3:00 p.m., December 7, 2011, at National University.
