LAW AND JUSTICEPRESENTATION: SHASTA DAY REPORTING CENTER

Chief Probation Officer Tracie Neal gave a presentation on the Shasta Day Reporting Center (DRC). The DRC aims to reduce recidivism and allows progress at a pace determined to be needed for each offender to reintegrate back into society. Ms. Neal reported that research suggests high risk offenders need at least 200 hours of treatment to prevent from reengaging in criminal behavior. The DRC provides offender treatment necessary for the Shasta County offender population, focuses on the criminogenic needs of offenders, and is committed to evidence-based practices, offender accountability, and long-term behavioral change.

Demand for these services continues to grow, and it is anticipated that County Probation will receive an additional 203 Post-Release Community Supervision offenders in Fiscal Year (FY) 2017-18, who prior to realignment in 2011, would have gone to State Parole for supervision. Since 2016, the Shasta Day Reporting Center has remained at maximum capacity with 122 offenders and there is a waiting list. Ms. Neal recommended increasing maximum capacity of the DRC to 150 offenders.

In response to questions by Supervisor Baugh, Ms. Neal stated that realignment offenders recidivate at a higher rate than traditional felony offenders and will provide recidivism rates specific to the DRC. Ms. Neal also reported Shasta County does not have another treatment program that contracts with the same level of care as the DRC and that staff possess the required accreditation and certification.

In response to questions by Supervisor Rickert, Ms. Neal clarified the cost of the DRC is approximately $3000 per offender per year and for offenders who have completed the program approximately $37,000 per year. Ms. Neal also confirmed a majority of offenders have substance abuse problems, and so it remains one of the DRC's top criminogenic needs they service.

In response to questions by Supervisor Morgan, Ms. Neal advised their building will be able to accommodate increasing the maximum capacity of offenders to 150, by increasing DRC hours on the weekends and hiring three additional staff pursuant to the contract.

In response to questions by Supervisor Baugh, Ms. Neal clarified the actual amount of funds Shasta County received from the State, through Assembly Bill (AB) 109 funding was $7.126 million for FY 2016-17 and discussed the range of county-wide programs to which these funds are distributed. Ms. Neal confirmed that they do identify individuals released from State prison who are homeless; however it is difficult to correlate them to the visible homeless population in Redding. Ms. Neal advised that as a result of Proposition 47, offenders of misdemeanor crimes are no longer monitored and the focus of the DRC is producing long-term behavioral change in the felony population, which takes time.

In response to questions by Supervisor Moty, Ms. Neal and CEO Larry Lees confirmed that the DRC program costs per offender per year are less than State prison incarceration costs per offender per year and that the DRC recidivism rates are lower than state recidivism rates.

In response to questions by Supervisor Rickert, Ms. Neal confirmed that discussions have been requested and are ongoing for a Day Reporting Center in Burney.

In response to questions by Supervisor Kehoe, Ms. Neal clarified that the State has not relaxed the standards for high risk offenders; however, offenders are released based on the crime and the county wherein they have been sentenced for State conviction.

In response to previous questions by Supervisor Baugh, DRC staff Amanda Owens reported people who participate in the DRC do stay out of jail longer, which does impact costs. Ms. Owen also confirmed every DRC staff member meets the necessary requirements for their role to serve the offender population supervised by the DRC.

By motion made, seconded (Moty/Morgan), and unanimously carried, the Board of Supervisors approved and authorized the Chairman to sign an amendment, effective July 1, 2017, to the agreement with B.I. Incorporated, d.b.a. B.I. Correctional Services, Inc. increasing compensation for each FY 2017-18 and FY 2018-19 by $441,192 (for a new agreement total not to exceed $3,681,192) to increase the maximum number of participants to 150; make technical updates to the agreement; and retain the term of July 1, 2016 through June 30, 2017 with two automatic one-year renewals.
